

TAI environmental policy

In the last few years the environmental issue has become increasingly important and society as a whole has become increasingly aware of how important it is to achieve a decent "quality of life".

We are confident that our company's environmental approach and high quality objectives can not only lead to a better positioning of our business on the market, but, above all to the creation of a value which will continue in the long-term.

We would like to underline how important this commitment is and we would like everybody, at all levels, to cooperate with us in the implementation of the environmental management system and subsequent improvement of the environment in compliance with UNI EN ISO 14001:2004.

Our goals are the following:

- To guarantee the rules in compliance with the law, to the applicable regulations and to every other requisite regarding environmental protection.
- To define, implement and periodically review objectives aimed at reducing the environmental impact (emissions, waste...) and prevention of pollution in general.
- To inform and train all the personnel dealing with development strategies of the company in order to ensure that they carry out their tasks efficiently and aim at constantly improving the quality of their work by also informing and training all those in the company who may cause a significant environmental impact.
- To pursue, with the aid and cooperation of all parties involved, objectives regarding productive quality so that clients will be guaranteed products that are safe for the environment and satisfy quality requisites.
- To keep communication towards the public (clients, suppliers, public bodies) as clear as possible, to consolidate and improve the trust that we have earned and at the same time communicate the commitment of the company as regards environmental issues. It is in the light of this that the company will publish its Environmental Policy on the company's website, also at the disposal of those who work outside the company as well as inside.

We feel that safeguarding the environment is a great opportunity to boost growth, both in terms of relationships with the "external" parties as well as with the "internal" ones at all levels.

The company promises to pursue further goals as regards environmental protection and take a leading role in the management of the resources for this purpose.

The company also promises to review its Environmental Policy during Management Review.
